

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Miss Spring is making amends for her past conduct.

See Biographical Sketch of ABRAHAM LINCOLN, on first page. It is worthy of perusal.

If the weather don't make a change before long, our farmers had better throw grain-growing aside, and try a crop of ducks.

Abbott & Welch who have lately established a Hardware Store in Winnebago City, have received their stock of goods, which consists of all kinds of implements necessary for farming and mechanical purposes. Call and see them.

The "Dora" Law is in force. Tray, Bull, Top, Towser, Watch, Ringwood and Jowler, will see to it, that their names are properly registered, to insure their personal safety. Fortunately, however, there are no sausage-shops in this vicinity.

PRAIRIE FIRES—We have been enjoying, for several days, the spectacle of a prairie on fire. When evening sets in, the whole horizon is belted with a wall of flame, shooting heavenward in vivid streaks, resembling the camp fires of a tented host, and surpassing in sublimity and grandeur, the mightiest pyrotechnic efforts of man.

Chatfield Items.

By a private dispatch, from that place, we learn that several young men have cast their lots on the side of matrimony. The first on the list comes Ez, "Money," who has fettered himself to somebody for life. May the honey moon last indefinitely, and his pathway through life, be strewn with "posies." Because Ez did it, Hiram has done it, and for the same reason Frank has enlisted. Eyes right—dress.

In conjunction with the above, we also learn that our old friend Adjt. T. P. Gere, has been mustered out of the U. S. Service. He has been tied on twenty battle fields, and found to be the true "blue," and also the recipient of a considerable share of the honors, which never affected the bump of self-esteem in the least.

To Our Readers.

We intend to publish a first class local newspaper, and to do so, should have the cordial support of every one in this, and surrounding localities. Give your neighbor a punch in the ribs who is perfectly willing to read the paper at your expense, but when asked to subscribe, says: "Well, I don't know, I can get the New York Times for $2.50, and it has a grander more reading matter in it." Why, God bless you, old Mr. Fogy, we'll print the Tribune and Herald, combined, if you should give us that encouragement, which will warrant us in so doing. There is a vast difference between supporting an eastern paper, which is devoted to general intelligence, and that of your home paper, devoted to your own interests exclusively, and besides you can make a dollar here, to where you got a shilling there, and are certainly aware that through the press you are being daily enriched. There are ear loads of truth embodied in the following lines, written by some sympathetic poet:

"The Printing Press, I speak it gladly, Though sometimes I have said it sadly— So much one varies in his mind's role! Is like a monstrous Yankee Grindstone, Where some fees, or tolls, or taxes, A thousand people grind their axes— The owner getting for his earning The precious privilege of turning."

You can wipe away the stain, though, by stepping into our counting-room, and depositing in a sugar box, which we use as a safe, the necessary $1.50. Try it.

Soldiers Read This. For the derangement of the system. Change of diet: Wounds, Sores, Bruises and Eruptions, to which every Volunteer is liable, there are no remedies so safe, convenient and sure as HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT, thoroughly tested in the Crimean and Italian Campaigns.

If the reader of this notice cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place let him write to me 80 Maiden Lane, enclosing one cent, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make 35 cents 88 cents and $1.10 per box or pot.

THE CAMPBELL FAMILY.

Sketch of John Campbell--Action of Judge Lynch Sustained.

Editor of the St. Paul Pioneer:

The lynching of JOHN CAMPBELL, at Mankato, on the second of May, renders everything connected with his antecedents a matter of interest. The following, gathered hastily together within the past two days, from old citizens and men from the Sioux Reservation, and those who were in Campbell's company in the South, one of them an officer, comprise matters worthy of preservation:

THE GRANDFATHER.

The grandfather of John Campbell, on the mail side, emigrated from Scotland at the close of the last century, and was a trader at Prairie du Chien. His reputation was that of a shrewd, active man, with intelligence far above the ordinary standard.

His name was Colin Campbell. John Campbell, on his return from his voyage up the Mississippi, was treated by him with hospitality. He mentions in his journal that Mr. Campbell presented to him a man with a barrel of pork, and that he had others of his party here. He mentions that Mr. Campbell was in the habit of visiting St. Louis, and that he had others of his party here. He mentions that Mr. Campbell was in the habit of visiting St. Louis, and that he had others of his party here.

THE FATHER.

John Campbell was the father of the subject of this article, and was born in 1799 at Prairie du Chien. After he grew up he followed the profession of a trader, and was the United States interpreter to the Sioux at Fort Snelling for some twenty-five years. He clerked for Messrs. Steele, Kison, and other traders in early days. Prior to '42 he moved to St. Paul, and lived on the site of the stone building occupied by the American Express, on Third street near the Presbyterian Church. Here he claimed some twenty acres, which is well known to old residents and lawyers who have examined our records, as "Scott Campbell's claim."

In 1847 he sold out his claim and log shanty, in which he resided, to Mr. Heston, for $500, and moved to a log house just above Denoyer's on the St. Anthony road, where he lived until the time of his death, which transpired in 1850. He was buried near the residence of Mr. Wheelock, on St. Peter street, at what was the Catholic Cemetery.

He died in very old age, and in the most peaceful manner. He was represented to have possessed much ability. Of this he availed himself to get inserted in the Treaty with the Sioux in 1837 two clauses by which he was secured in the quiet possession of 500 acres of land a mile and a half below Fort Snelling, on the west side of the Mississippi, where he then resided, and $150 per year for 20 years. He was not shrewd enough, however, to prevent the Senate from striking out both these provisions. As Mr. Campbell was the United States Interpreter, in making the Treaty, the stipulations appeared to that body as suspicious.

His principal vice seems to have been excessive intemperance. He died in adject poverty, leaving a wife, a mixed Menominee and Sioux, and five sons and four daughters. The widow married Parole, a trader, who was murdered by the Indians in the first day of the massacre of 1862, near New Ulm, while in company with Miss Mattie Williams, Mary Swan and a Frenchman. She is at present, I believe, living in Traverse des Sioux.

JOHN L. CAMPBELL.

John was the youngest of the sons. He was born near Mendota about thirty-two years ago, and afterwards lived with his father at his house in St. Paul, where he was well known to Mr. Larperneur, Mr. Irvine and many other old citizens. When the Sioux moved to their reservation under the treaties of 1851-52, he with others of his brothers followed them. He inherited his father's love of liquor, and was frequently upon sprees, and engaged in riotous conduct. He early manifested a cruel disposition, and his history will show that the punishment he received was but his just deserts for many other crimes.

About seven years ago he fled from the Red Wood Agency, and after he was gone, an Indian called "Indian Charlie," well known at the Agency, stated that John Campbell in his presence had murdered a Frenchman named La Port, who lived a few miles from there, and after robbing him of sixty dollars, had buried him or sunk him in a lake, and offered to show the place. He said that Campbell borrowed his (Charlie's) gun to commit the deed, and gave him $10 for the use of it, and to keep the secret. The following circumstances caused his flight from the Agency.

He and his brother, Hypolite, had a grudge against Gabriel Faribault, and saw him coming near the Ferry at Red Wood. John, as he was called "Black," saw him first, and got the gun and gave it to his brother, who shot and murdered Faribault. This was in broad day. They both hastily fled to the Indians at La Traverse. Hypolite was extensively engaged in the massacre of 1862, and still remains among the Sioux near Fort Tully, in the British possessions. John Campbell was not in that massacre as has been erroneously stated. In 1861 he emerged from his haunts among the Indians and came to Fort Snelling where he enlisted in Co. A of Brackett's Battalion, which company afterwards became Co. G of the 5th Iowa Cavalry, and left for the South with his company in November, '61. Before his departure he was frequently absent at Mendota without leave, and engaged in drunken brawls. From Minnesota the company went to Benton Barracks, where his conduct was the same. At one time, while absent at St. Louis, he was arrested and placed in the military prison. From Benton Barracks the company went to Forts Henry and Hindman, where John murdered himself, whenever he could, in scouring the country for horses, and selling them for $10 apiece or other small sums, which he would at once invest in whiskey.

His next station was Fort Donelson. Here his bad habits increased tenfold. He became so troublesome and reckless that the officers could do but little with him. He marched from Donelson on a scouting party some 20 miles, to the house of an old man named Winter's, John, who was a sly, insinuating fellow stole off from the rest, and persuaded the negroes to tell him where their master's money was hid. Through their information he found some five or six thousand dollars in the smoke house. After the return, some of the boys at the Fort found out what a good thing John had, and started with him again for Winter's house. This they reached about twelve o'clock at night, found the old man in bed, and ordered him to tell where the money was. On his declining to comply, they pulled him out of bed, put a rope around his neck, and hauled him up several times, and continued to haul him up until he told.

An officer in the Battalion told me that he got $1400 in Tennessee money, but a soldier informed me that Campbell this year said they got $38,000 in greenbacks. Campbell was kept in the guard-house some time for this offence, tried by court martial and six months of his pay stopped.

At Donelson he was carrying on a criminal intercourse with a married woman by the name of Underwood. Her husband suddenly died, and it was a current report among the members of the company that she and Campbell poisoned him. He afterwards acted as a scout for Gen. Thomas, and his company officers were glad to get rid of him. In the winter of 1861, he re-enlisted with a greater portion of his company, and was furloughed, but instead of coming home as other members did, while they were going north he went south to Smithfield and robbed his mistress, Mrs. Underwood, of her money, and then left for the North and reported to Gen. Sibley in the latter part of March, 1861, and requested to be made Chief of Scouts. He was not made Chief of Scouts, although he was dressed in a very fine suit of clothes, and had a fancy gait band around his cap, and presented every evidence of an elaborate toilet.

Instead of being made chief of scouts he was sent to Fort Snelling. One night he went over to Mendota with two other mixed blood recruits, and got into a difficulty with them. Within a few days after the both died. It was a matter of common belief, and state ment among the soldiers, that Campbell poisoned them. About this time he was detailed to accompany a detachment to La Crosse after horses, but was absent without leave. He was afterwards found and placed in the Guard House, from whence he escaped on the 11th day of August, 1864, in company with an ex-rebel named Jones. Stealing a couple of horses between Shakopee and Lake Park, they both made their escape. Jones was from North Carolina. His father was killed in a battle in a fight. He has been since heard of in one of the States. John sought refuge among the Indians, with whom he remained until his career of crime was ended at Mankato.

His officers represent him to have been very neat and cleanly in person, and in taking care of his arms, and that he always bestowed great care upon his horse. In appearance he is said to have borne a strong resemblance to his father. Like his father, and unlike most half breeds, his hair was curly, and he allowed it to grow quite long. His age was about 32 when he was executed, although he looked much younger.

THE OTHER BROTHERS.

Hypolite, who is called "the Blacksmith," and who was once employed by the Government in that capacity, was still in the British possessions according to last accounts.

Baptiste was executed at Mankato in 1862 for shooting a white man. He admitted that he aimed and fired to hit, but he did not think he shot him, as one of the Indians, who was with him, crept up closer, and got a better shot. He did not look like a bad man, but like a stolid and stupid one. As his admission showed him to be. The court did not suspect he was implicated when he was summoned before them. He was called as a witness in favor of one Milor (one of the party, and also executed) and asked if he knew anything about the matter. He astonished the listeners by saying "Yes; we all shot and tried to hit him, but the Indian killed him." Scott is reported to be a quiet, inoffensive man.

Jo, the eldest was present at Myrick's store when the Massacre of 1862 commenced. He afterwards wrote a true declaration the letter which that Chief directed to Gen. Sibley about the delivery of the white captives. He carried Little Crow in a baggy to the war party to the Big Woods, which party fought the battle of Acton, and burned the town of Hutchinson. He did many kind acts to the prisoners, and there was no evidence to show that he participated by word or act in the massacre. He is married to a pure white woman, who came to St. Paul from St. Louis, and his children were educated at the Catholic Seminary in St. Paul. He CURIOSITY.--Among the curiosities lately added to the Boston Museum is a musquito's bladder, containing the souls of the whole Sioux tribe, and the fortunes of fifty-one printers--nearly half full.

Too Good to Be Lost.

(Scene that occurred between an Artist and a coal man.) As one of our citizens sailed forth the other morning, to the delightful sound of "char-choal!" "char-choal!" he asked the price of "char-choal!" "Fifty cents!" was the answer.

"I'll take a basket if you'll give good measure."

"Certainly always," was the response.

The coalman began shovelling, and pouring in very lightly as usual, until the basket being nearly full, the purchaser perceiving how lightly and carefully he managed to fill it, said to him,

"I would like to give you a fourpence to give the basket a good kick."

"Agreed," says the coalman.

He gave it a kick and settled it down about half or three quarters of a basket. The coalman did not open his mouth, but stood a moment, and looked amazed into the basket. He took up his basket, and coolly emptied its contents into his wagon and then commenced filling it again as lightly as before.

When it was about three quarters full he asked his customer if he would not like to kick it again for another fourpence, he received an affirmative reply.

"Agreed," says the coalman.

The money was paid over, and the purchaser, becoming impatient, did kick to some purpose; for the basket went tumbling over the way into the gutter, bottom side up, the coal well scattered both in the road and gutter.

The coalman said not a word at first but scooped over, and commenced picking up the largest pieces of his coal; at last, looking up, with a twitch of his eye, he said:

"Egad you've got me this time."

The purchaser left the coalman to his own cogitations, and went into the house--Ex.

Changing House.

The house we live in for a number of years cannot fail to exert a great influence over us. The same place impresses the same trains of thought all at last, we give ourselves up to a ritual, in which the drawing room, the dining room, and the study are the masters, and certain inanimate objects, on which we are already bestowed a thought, become our impulses and our directors. With a change of house, all this revolutionized.

You have to plot out your home, that is, your life. You have to discuss as poets and views, the points of the compass, and prevailing winds, to balance with yourself the advantages of the rising against the setting sun; to think where you can sleep most profoundly, and dine most snugly; and above all, if a man of any temperament, where you can install yourself in a so-called study, a spot religiously believed sacred to meditation and labor, but in sober reality a little sleepy hollow of refuge, dedicated to that noble pastime that is said to have a disreputable region: a pastime which, in all its vague unreality, I would not exchange for many a practical tangible pleasure. With a change of house all of these devolve upon you. You cannot begin the daily work of life till they be determined, nor can you determine them without constant reference to the past. Your drawing-room may be larger and loftier, your study may offer more space or accommodation; but depend upon it there will always be something in which the by-gone will contract favorably with the present. That is a condition of human thought. I am inclined to believe; at least all my friends who have been married a second time have confidentially imparted to me something that would go far to confirm it.

John C. Rives, the veteran printer in a private letter thus complimented the "Jour." "Many members of Congress, like not a few greater men, must have been surprised at the respectable figures they cut in print, without thinking of the toilsome labor, and the exercise of better talent than their own which had been expended by the four-printer, in picking into shape the message, report or speech furnished by them.

I have seen the manuscript writing of most great men of the country during the past twenty years, and I think I may say, that no twenty of them could stand the test of the scrutiny of one half of the journeyman printers employed in my office.

This fact will be vouched by every editor in the Union. To the poor journeyman a "great man" owes his reputation for scholarship, and were the humble type-stickers to resolve, by concert, to set up manuscript in their hands, for even one little week, precisely as it is written by the authors, there would be more reputations slaughtered than their devils could shake a stick at in twenty-four hours. "Statesmen" would become "small by degrees, and beautifully less." Many an ass would have the lion's hide torn from his limbs. Men whom the world called writers, would wake up of mornings and find themselves--famous as mere pretenders, humbly, cheats."

Grace in Female Dress.

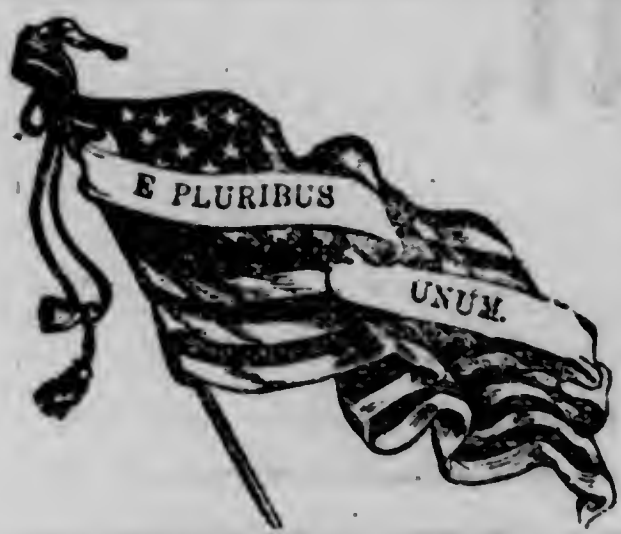

Somebody has said that a Parisian girl, with a little tulle and ribbons, will conquer the world, while an English woman, with all her shawls, diamonds, and looks only like an animated clothes horse. There is some exaggeration in this statement, but more wit and still more truth. The women of France unquestionably have a better taste in dress than those of Great Britain or America. In both our mother country and this, there is too much what we call "snobism," in female attire. The ladies of Anglo-Saxon origin seem to think the more they spread on dress, the prettier they look. Accordingly one sees little women covered all over with lace, or buried in the midst of stiff brocade, or almost lost to sight under a puffing velvet coat, with capes that extend on either side like gigantic wings. Or one beholds a tall woman, in such be the fashion, tricked out in light sleeves and striped silks, the costliness of the material being regarded by the wearer as sufficient compensation for the incongruity of the styles. A French servant girl has better taste. She knows it is not so much the richness of the material as the way it is made up, and the manner it is worn, that gives it the desired elegance.

Copperhead Journalists.

The Tribune's Washington special says: "The President has been strongly urged by prominent gentlemen here to subject to arrest, and treat such men as M. M. Pomeroy of the LaCrosse Wisconsin Democrat, and the Editor of the Chicago Times, who during the past year, have publicly advised and incited the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. The matter is receiving serious consideration."

WHO IS "PAX"

Over the signature of "Pax," a correspondent of the St. Paul Press, writing from Rochester in this State, espouses the cause of the bloody murderers of the people of the frontier, and in plain language says that the Sioux assassins are injured innocents, while their victims are those who deserve death at their hands! From the style of the article, we judge "Pax" is one of those Missionaries who having for the past twenty years been sowing their seed of righteousness upon barbarian souls, have reaped their harvest, in the massacre of 700 or 800 women and children on the frontier. All of them but "Pax" have heretofore seemed to regret that their "beloved brethren" continued to commit murder, but the hanging of John Campbell without trial has caused this accomplice of murderers to throw off the mask, and avow himself as the apologist and justifier of their crimes!

It is well for "Pax" he is such a consummate coward that he dare not tell his name! But murder will out, and sooner or later the name of this accomplice of Sioux assassins will be known, and if the newspaper press of this State do not hand it down to an ignominy as damnable as that which surrounds the bloody accomplices of the murderer of our President, we shall be mistaken.

Further, if "Pax" will avow his name, or if it is discovered against his will, we will, as a frontiersman, guaranty him something else, viz: that if he ever visits the frontier, he shall be hung by the neck, as his friend the half-breed murderer, John Campbell was, till he is dead, and further, as he is swung off to Perdition, there shall not a single prayer go up that God Almighty may have mercy on his soul! "Pax" no doubt, will call this brutal, but as he calls murders committed by Indians simply "errors," and hanging inflicted by frontiersmen upon the murderers, "crimes," his charge of brutality is evidently a compliment to justice on the frontier! As "Pax" is very indignant at rewards offered for Sioux scalps, he probably will be still further outraged at this reward which we now offer, to wit: "Ten dollars, for just the name of the villainous scamp, who, over the signature of "Pax" in the St. Paul Press, is an apologist and defender of the Sioux assassins, who have desolated the frontier." Rochester papers please copy, and send bill to this office.

The Indian troubles are, without doubt, over with, for this time, troops having been placed at all exposed points! The party that committed the depredation is likely to escape, all except the half-breed, John Campbell, who led them! Owing to the good sense of the people of Mankato, he has gone where he can commit no more murders! The only dog, who mourns his fate, is one "Pax," of Rochester!

Hon. LEVI NUTTING, of Fairbault, we notice, has received his commission as Surveyor General of this State, in place of W. D. WASHBURN, removed. Levi is as sound as a brick, being a red hot Abolitionist. He has waited long, but it seems not in vain.

Col. SMITH, of Mankato, we understand, is organizing a frontier force of 600 men, for Scalp Hunters! This is right, and let the motto of the corps be, "Kill an Indian as soon as found!"

The whole of our brigade immediately followed, as did all the advance of both corps."

NEWS ITEMS.

Jeff Thompson surrendered his entire army yesterday, to Capt. Mitchell U. S. Navy.

Chief Justice Chase will soon leave for the South to organize the United States Courts in that region.

A contemporary speaking of Parton's Life of Andrew Jackson, calls it a "wretched attempt on the life of the General."

The President is preparing a proclamation declaring all vessels sailing under the confederate flag, pirates. They are to be pursued, and if captured treated as such.

All but four of the forts about Washington are to be immediately dismounted, their garrisons withdrawn and dismissed, and everything appertaining to this expensive branch of defensive warfare is to be put upon the general retrenchment path.

Farmers, in Eastern Pennsylvania, are hiring laborers among the rebel paroled prisoners, and deserters, at the low rates of $3 to $16 per month. Government furnishes these men free transportation. How art the chivalry fallen!

NOBLE ACT.—Sometime ago a merchant of San Francisco lost his wife, and invited his clerks to attend her funeral. They did so, and were not a little astonished when pay day arrived to find that they had not only been "docked" for the lost day, but also charged for the carriage in which they rode! Too cool for comfort!

The women of Mount Jackson Ind., waited upon one of their sex last week with a rope for the purpose of hanging her, for using sundry improper words about the assassination of President Lincoln. The offender readily agreed to take back all she had said, and saved her neck.

A large number of workmen have been discharged from the navy yard in Washington, as the naval forces of the United States are to be reduced as speedily as possible. Large numbers of officers are sending their resignations to the navy department, all of which are being accepted.

It is ordered by the President that resignations of general, field and staff officers, will be received until the fifteenth of this month, at which date the Adjutant General is directed to commence mustering honorably out of service all general, field and staff officers, who are unemployed, or whose services are no longer required.

The Herald's special says the evidence in possession of government of the complicity of Jeff. Davis and his proscribed assistants, is such that no foreign government will hesitate a moment in giving them up. President Johnson's proclamation for the arrest has been sent through the South over rebel telegraph lines.

A thorough examination of all departments of Note Printing and Currency Bureaus of the Treasury, has been instituted by Secretary McCulloch. Secretary Harrington will take with him to Europe samples of all United States securities, bills, &c., so as to detect attempts at counterfeiting which have been indulged in across the water.

The Washington Republican says: "Neither of the statements detailing the mysterious manner of finally disposing of the assassin are true. Colonel Baker and his brother, Lieut. Baker, are the only persons living who know what disposal was made of it, and they are under oath to reveal the fact to no human being. Any statement professing to detail how or where the remains were deposited, is not only guess work but a serious reflection on the faithfulness of Col. Baker and his brother."

A petition signed by eleven influential citizens of East Tennessee, all but one of whom have been active and prominent rebels, has been sent to Governor Brownlow, asking for the restoration of civil law in that section of the State, and promising obedience and aid in enforcing it, till security and order under the Federal flag are restored to the country. Governor Brownlow commends the spirit manifested in the petition, and advises all men to meet in the same spirit of conciliation.

The London Times of the 21st, in an article on the concluding scenes of the American war, says: "The civil war need only live in national memory as a grand struggle in which the heroism and endurance of all classes of Americans astonished the world. Neither belligerent need be ashamed of the retrospect. Federals and confederates alike had maintained larger armies, and fought more desperate battles than any other people." So the London Times admits that we have astonished the world. Thus the thunderer justifies our old fashioned Fourth of July literature.

A Chicago correspondent of the Missouri Democrat says: "The new Republican will be published here on the first Monday in June. The company proposing to start it have purchased the Chicago Post. James W. Sheehan, the present able editor of the Post, will continue to write for the Illinois Republican. It is rumored that a leading Eastern editor will be the principal editor. Insist it will equal the New York Times. It starts under very favorable auspices. Col. A. W. Mack, State Senator from the Kankakee district, one of the smartest business men in the State, and also a very fine writer is the President of the company."

Proclamation Against Harboring Rebels.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—President Johnson has issued a proclamation declaring that, whereas armed resistance to the authorities of the government in certain States heretofore declared to be in insurrection, may be regarded as virtually at an end, and the persons by whom the operations of the insurgent cruisers were directed are fugitives or captives; and whereas it is understood that some of those cruisers are still infesting the high seas, and others preparing to capture, burn and destroy vessels of the United States; he enjoins all naval, military and civil officers of the United States diligently to endeavor, by all lawful means, to arrest said cruisers and bringing them into port in the United States, in order that they may be prevented from committing further depredations upon commerce, and that the persons on board of them may no longer enjoy immunity for crime. And he further proclaims and declares that if, after reasonable time shall elapse for the proclamation to become known in the ports afloat nations claiming to have been neutral said insurgent cruisers and persons on board them shall continue to receive hospitality in said ports, this government will deem itself justified in refusing hospitality to public vessels of such nation in ports of the United States, and in adopting such other measures as may be deemed advisable towards vindicating the national sovereignty.

Thomas Martin, a guerrilla, was executed here yesterday.

Orders for the execution of Bowles, Mulligan and Hersey (Sons of Liberty) are published in the Cincinnati papers this morning, 12th. They will be hanged the 19th. A list of the Sons of Liberty will soon be given. They embrace nearly all the prominent Copperheads of the North, who have been plotting the overthrow of the Government ever since the war commenced.

CAROL, March 9.—The following dispatch was received at Headquarters at Memphis, from Gen. Canby, via Stenobia, on the 6th:

Headquarters Military Dep't., Citronelle, Alabama, May 4th. Lieut. General Taylor has this day surrendered to me the forces under his command, on substantially the same terms as those accepted by Gen. Lee. F. R. S. CANBY, Major General.

St. Louis, May 11.—Major Davis, commanding the post at Lexington, Mo., received this morning a letter from one A. Clement, a rebel, demanding the surrender of the town within twenty-four hours, on the plea of having it captured by storm, sacked and burned, and all the soldiers killed. The place is being prepared for defense, and if attacked, the assailants will be warmly received. Considering the times, this may be regarded as cool.

The town of Holden has been robbed and several citizens badly wounded. The perpetrators of these outrages are doubtless the same who are now so audaciously demanding the surrender of Lexington.

Price, in a small envelope, only 6 cents. The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS

SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS

A healthy tonic, gentle stimulant and unequalled morning appetizer. Prepared in ripe Bourbon. Being now used to the exclusion of all other Bitters in more than fifty United States Army Hospitals, and millions of private families, and is the only popular medicine which has been especially exempted from stamp tax by the United States government, on the ground of its having been adopted as a standard remedy by the medical profession.

Swain's Bourbon Bitters.

They are made of ingredients well known and approved by the medical profession, as having powerful tonic properties, are both palatable and pleasant, with sufficient strengthening properties to correct the bilious derangement of the system, and act like a charm when taken according to direction, as a remedy for the following diseases:—Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Affections, Loss of Appetite, Lowness of spirits, Sallow Complexion.

Swain's Bourbon Bitters

FOR

Headache, Constiveness, and kindred diseases, arising from a disordered condition of the Stomach, Liver or Bowels. Let every one try these agreeable Bitters; once tried and used, you will recommend them with confidence to all who are in need of a wholesome, agreeable and effectual tonic. The rapidly increasing demand for these Bitters has induced me to give them publicity, so that thousands who have not used them, may try them and be convinced of their efficiency.

Swain's Bourbon Bitters.

Ladies who have tried and found most other "Stomach Bitters" too bitter, unpalatable and too highly medicated for their delicate taste, please give these a trial, and you will not be without them. They will give tone to the stomach, and strength to the whole system.

If your druggist or tradesman has not got these Bitters have him send for them.

Remember the name, and take no other.

WHO IS "PAX"?

Over the signature of "Pax," a correspondent of the St. Paul Press, writing from Rochester in this State, espouses the cause of the bloody murderers of the people of the frontier, and in plain language says that the Sioux assassins are injured innocents, while their victims are those who deserve death at their hands! From the style of the article, we judge "Pax" is one of those Missionaries, who having for the past twenty years been sowing their seed of righteousness upon barbarian souls, have reaped their harvest, in the massacre of 700 or 800 women and children on the frontier. All of them but "Pax" have heretofore seemed to regret that their "beloved brethren" continued to commit murder, but the hanging of John Campbell without trial has caused this accomplice of murderers to throw off the mask, and avow himself as the apologist and justifier of their crimes!

It is well for "Pax" he is such a consummate coward that he dare not tell his name! But murder will out, and sooner or later the name of this accomplice of Sioux assassins will be known, and if the newspaper press of this State do not hand it down to an ignominy as damnable as that which surrounds the bloody accomplices of the murderer of our President, we shall be mistaken.

Further, if "Pax" will avow his name, or if it is discovered against his will, we will, as a frontiersman, guarantee him something else, viz: that if he ever visits the frontier, he shall be hung by the neck, as his friend the half-breed murderer, John Campbell was, till he is dead, and further, as he is swinging off to Perdition, there shall not a single prayer go up that God Almighty may have mercy on his soul!

"Pax," no doubt, will call this brutal, but as he calls murderers committed by Indians simply "errors," and hanging inflicted by frontiersmen upon the murderers, "crimes," his charge of brutality is evidently a compliment to justice on the frontier! As "Pax" is very indignant at rewards offered for Sioux scalps, he probably will be still further outraged at this reward which we now offer, to wit: "Ten dollars, for just the name of the villainous scamp, who, over the signature of "Pax" in the St. Paul Press, is an apologist and defender of the Sioux assassins, who have desolated the frontier." Rochester papers please copy, and send bill to this office.

The Indian troubles are, without doubt, over with, for this time, troops having been placed at all exposed points! The party that committed the depredation is likely to escape, all except the half breed, John Campbell, who led them! Owing to the good sense of the people of Mankato, he has gone where he can commit no more murders! The only dog, who mourns his fate, is one "Pax," of Rochester!

Hon. LEVI NOTTING, of Faribault, we notice, has received his commission as Surveyor General of this State, in place of W. D. WASHBURN, removed. Levi is as sound as a brick, being a red hot Abolitionist. He has waited long, but it seems not in vain.

Col. SMITH, of Mankato, we understand, is organizing a frontier force of 600 men, for Scalp Hunters! This is right, and let the motto of the corps be, "Kill an Indian as soon as found!"

The whole of our brigade immediately followed, as did all the advance of both corps."

CAP. has been in twenty five pitched battles, since the war commenced, and has won for himself an enviable reputation. He was a member of Co. B 5th Minn., at the time of Sioux outbreak, in 1862, and signalled himself with distinguished gallantry, during the siege of Ridgely. He was one the very first over the enemy's works at the battle of Nashville, and has won promotion from time to time, for meritorious conduct.

NEWS ITEMS.

Jeff Thompson surrendered his entire army yesterday, to Capt. Mitchell U. S. Navy.

Chief Justice Chase will soon leave for the South to organize the United States Courts in that region.

A contemporary speaking of Parton's Life of Andrew Jackson, calls it a "wretched attempt on the life of the General."

The President is preparing a proclamation declaring all vessels sailing under the confederate flag, pirates. They are to be pursued, and if captured treated as such.

All but four of the forts about Washington are to be immediately dismantled, their garrisons withdrawn and dismissed, and everything appertaining to this expensive branch of defensive warfare is to be put upon the general retrenchment path.

Farmers, in Eastern Pennsylvania, are hiring laborers among the rebel paroled prisoners, and deserters, at the low rates of $3 to $16 per month. Government furnishes these men free transportation. How art the chivalry fallen!

NOBLE ACT.—Sometime ago a merchant of San Francisco lost his wife, and invited his clerks to attend her funeral. They did so, and were not a little astonished when pay day arrived to find that they had not only been "docked" for the lost day, but also charged for the carriage in which they rode! Too cool for comfort!

The women of Mount Jackson Ind., waited upon one of their sex last week with a rope for the purpose of hanging her, for using sundry improper words about the assassination of President Lincoln. The offender readily agreed to take back all she had said, and saved her neck.

A large number of workmen have been discharged from the navy yard in Washington, as the naval forces of the United States are to be reduced as speedily as possible. Large numbers of officers are sending their resignations to the navy department, all of which are being accepted.

It is ordered by the President that resignations of general, field and staff officers, will be received until the fifteenth of this month, at which date the Adjutant General is directed to commence mustering honorably out of service all general, field and staff officers, who are unemployed, or whose services are no longer required.

The Herald's special says the evidence in possession of government of the complicity of Jeff. Davis and his proscribed assistants, is such that no foreign government will hesitate a moment in giving them up. President Johnson's proclamation for the arrest has been sent through the South over rebel telegraph lines.

A thorough examination of all departments of Note Printing and Currency Bureaus of the Treasury, has been instituted by Secretary McCulloch. Secretary Harrington will take with him to Europe samples of all United States securities, bills, &c., so as to detect attempts at counterfeiting which have been indulged in across the water.

Anecdotes of General Grant.

His Early Experience in the War.

Correspondence of the Cincinnati COMMERCIAL:

RALEIGH, N. C., April 24th, 1865.—Sitting round a blazing camp-fire, a few evenings since, several Illinois officers related their experiences of Gen. Grant in civil life. Here is, as near as I can recollect, what Gen. John E. Smith said on the subject:

"I don't believe any man in Illinois knew Grant better than I did, and I think I had quite as much to do as any other man in bringing him into the war. I lived in Galena at the time."

Grant's place of business was near mine. He kept a hardware and saddle store. I used to drop in and see him very often on my way home, and he and I would generally smoke our pipes together, in his office adjoining his store. He was a very poor business man, and never liked to wait on customers. If a customer called, in the absence of the clerks, he would tell them to wait a few minutes till one of the clerks returned, and if he could not wait, the General would go behind the counter very reluctantly, and drag down whatever was wanted; but he hardly ever knew the price of it, and in nine cases out of ten, he charged either too much or too little. He would rather talk about the Mexican war, than wait on the best customer in the world.

When the war broke out, I told him one day that I was going down to Springfield to see Governor Yates, who had sent for me. Grant merely remarked in a quiet way, "You can say to the Governor that if I can be of any use to him in organizing these regiments, I will do all I can." I went, and immediately made arrangements for Grant to be sent for. He came right down, and went to work to organize ten regiments called out as a sort of home guard, for thirty days at first, but afterwards enlisted for three years.

When he had done this, and was ready to go home, Governor Yates offered him the Colonelcy of the 21st regiment, one of the ten. He accepted it, and immediately went to camp. I went with him, and shall never forget the scene that occurred when his men first saw him. It was very laughable. Grant was dressed very clumsily, in citizen's clothes—having on an old coat, worn out at the elbows, and a badly dinged plug hat. His men, though fagged and harrowed themselves, had formed a high estimate of what a Colonel ought to be, and when Grant walked in among them, they began making fun of him. They cried out in derision, "Look at our Colonel!" "What a Colonel!" "D—n such a Colonel," and made all sorts of fun of him. A few of them, to "show off" to the others, got behind his back, and commenced sparring at him, and while one was doing this, another gave him such a push as made him hit Grant a terrible blow between the shoulders. The General soon showed them they must not judge the officer by the uniform, and before he got through, the unruly fellows felt very much mortified. One of them generously confessed that it was all in fun, and hoped the new Colonel would not get mad about it. But he did.

Grant went to work immediately, and in a very short time had his men clothed and fixed up in good style."

At this stage of the conversation, Gen. Logan joined in as follows:

"And I can tell you that Grant came very near going out of the service at the end of the thirty days for which his regiment was first called out. I met him on the streets of Springfield one day, looking very badly. He told me that he felt discouraged, because his regiment didn't want to re-enlist for three years. His men were getting tired of soldiering, and wanted to go home. He asked me to go to the camp and make a speech to the boys, and I told them all about the glories in store for them, and how grand it would be for them to be coming home to their wives and sweethearts at the end of three years. Whether my speech was good or bad, it had the desired effect; for all the men re-enlisted for three years, and a few days afterwards they started for Cairo, under Col. Grant."

General Logan then related how Grant came to be promoted to a Brigadier General:

"It was not for meritorious service, for he had not a chance to show himself meritorious. I was in Congress at the time. It was just before I resigned."

Lincoln sent in a request to the Illinois delegation to nominate nine men for Brigadier Generals. We met in caucus to do this, and Grant received one more vote than any other of the nine. Among the nine were McClelland, Prentiss, Hurlbut, Palmer, and others whose names I have forgotten. Dick Richardson was among them, but he declined. Grant was in Cairo at the time, and he knew nothing about his promotion until it had been decided on. We all went for him.

The Soldier's Soliloquy.

From The St. Paul Press.

Good-bye Dixie and gray backs. "Weens are going home." "Yuns have found the last ditch"—are beautifully whipped. Not overpowered—nary time. You agreed to fight five to one—done it nobly; got licked gloriously, now give manfully—don't whine. War is "done gone," so are tickets for railroads, "old criers" to raise a "crap" and "showins." We are relieved from killing "Johnnies." "Rah for peace—dead stre" peace. No "suck" this time. No McClelland peace, but the real genuine thing "Bully" relief for an old soldier. No more wild and baby "on the brain." Here goes for the reality. Musket, knapsack, cartridge-box, canteen and haversack, farewell. No more roll calls, musters, guard mounts, pickets, drills, dress parades, marches, and no more fights. The horn will cease to sound the "assemble," and the drum to beat tattoo, reveille, or taps. Good-bye hard-tack and sow-belly. U. S. blankets and dog tents, shoulder straps, brass buttons, basswood officers, half rations, shoddy clothing, verdant doctors, and semi occasional pity; avaricious quartermasters, spongy commissaries, greedy sutlers and chaplains who "play on a harp of a thousand strings." From the peaveriness of the rebels, the depravity snuff-dippers tobacco chewers and smokers of the female persuasion, in the sacred words of Josiah Billings, "Good Lord deliver us."

Hurrah for freedom and equality among white men. Negroes look out for yourselves. The war hasn't changed your color yet. You'll have to wait awhile. Uncle Samuel will father you all if you don't die with the "dry rot." If you do, the vexed question is honorably settled, and the proud satisfaction of dying in the United States of America is eternally yours. You who have escaped rebel bullets, the "deadline," and starvation of Confederate prisons, the miasmas and graveyards of Southern climate! the scalps of unconscious surgeons, and safely run the gauntlet upon military railroads and government steamers, have done well, and shall have my everlasting remembrance. You who were so unfortunate as to succumb to these unmistakable enemies of the human race, are placed beyond the appreciation of gratitude; but as a mark of our esteem have respectfully requested Horace Greeley to name you in his forthcoming glossary of the war. Farewell! I yield to domestic duties with quiet satisfaction and the most cheerful obedience.

Truths.

Men may blush to hear what they were not ashamed to do:

Men take less care of their conscience than they do of their reputation:

Moderation is commonly firm, and firmness is commonly successful.

More credit can be thrown down in a moment than can be built in an age.

Most men employ their first years so as to make their last miserable.

Much religion, but no goodness.

Neither believe rashly, nor reject obstinately.

Neither look out for troubles, nor be entirely unprovided for them.

Never accuse others to excuse thyself.

Never carry a sword in your tongue to wound the reputation of any man.

Never do that in prosperity whereof you may repent in adversity.

Never marry without you love, nor love without reason.

Never think of raising your reputation by detraction.

Never waste in unknown waters.

Next to my friend I love my enemies, for, from them I first hear of my faults.

Never wish a thing done but do it.

Nobody can stand in awe of himself too much.

A Man Who Looks Like Gen. Grant--A Funny Incident.

We sympathize with our fellowtownsman, Col. Strong, who on the occasion of the President's funeral in Philadelphia, found himself more conspicuous than was pleasant. It seems that in company with three others, he was riding in a barouche, about ten rods in the rear of the funeral car, when the crowd took him for Gen. Grant, and kept calling out "there's Grant! there's Grant!" The women lifted up their children to see him; men ran to the carriage to look him in the face, and it became such a nuisance that the Col. kept telling them "I'm not Gen. Grant, Grant is not here." They replied to him, "You can't fool us General."

One fellow said: "I've seen you too often at the front."

The Colonel having on a cape which concealed his uniform, threw it off, so that the crowd could see the eagles and be convinced he was not Grant, then they shouted "He's got on a Colonel's coat to fool us." One respectable looking man rushed up to the carriage looking him square in the face, and then sung out: "It is him, there is no mistake about it; I have seen him often." Colonel S. told him he was mistaken, and got for an answer, "you can't deceive me General, you will have to put on something besides a Colonel's coat to do that." Colonel Strong then told him he was a wounded officer, but it was of no use. They crowded around the carriage, hung on it, and the people all along the street in the civic procession that faced the car, stone took off their hats; and finally after it

THE HOMESTEAD

WINNEBAGO CITY, MINN.
MAY 11 1865.

We are not in favor of hanging Jeff Davis, the late President of rebel confederacy. This is what we would do with him if we had our way: Confine him in some States prison, to be fed on bread and water during his life. Let him never see the outside of said prison only upon the Fourth of July, when he should be taken and dressed in the petticoats in which he was caught, and to the tune of the regiments march, form part of the grand ceremonies incident to said day. One year let him be exhibited in this way in New York, the next in Philadelphia and so on until he had made the grand tour of the United States, or until life was extinct.

Scorn and ridicule would thus be everlastingly associated in the minds of the American people to the traitor and to the son. Death is too good for him. Give him yearly doses of public execution, to be followed by solitary confinement on bread and water.

Petitions are being circulated among the people of the frontier, for the removal of General Sibley from command of the department of Minnesota. These petitions should be signed by every body. In addition to this, every one should use his influence in other ways to cause this desirable end to be accomplished. Three years of ineffectuality in this Department has nearly ruined the State. It is time the machine is put back on the track under effective conductors.

Some of our Republican journals are getting distressed over the trials of the assassins of the President by military courts, claiming that to the civil authorities belong the right to dispose of these wretches.

For our part, we believe the drum head court martial is the place to try every thing and every body connected with this infernal rebellion, so that they be surely and quickly punished is the main question.

The St. Paul Press says that Senator Ramsey has hopes of prevailing on the authorities at Washington to send to Minnesota 2,500 cavalry to be used against the Indians. So far, excellent, but 10,000 cavalry will be of no use if placed under the control of Sibley. Give us Senator Ramsey if you please, a fighting commander to go with the cavalry and all will be well.

Two candidates for State officers we hear of from Omsted County in this State, viz. David Blakely for Governor, J. B. Daniels for Lieut. Gov. If Omsted county is going to try for a State officer this time, she can offer much better material than either of these candidates in the person of Thos. Armstrong, the last speaker of the House of Representatives.

Now that the southern war is over such Generals as Burnside and Butler are resigning, to save expense to the Government. Would that some daring hand might place nasty stuff on the tent Sibley sucks, so as to cause him to let go his hold. The expense of a superfluous Brigadier would not only be saved but the State might be protected from Indians.

We see it noticed in the New York Tribune, that as soon as the Indian raid broke out in Minnesota General Sibley immediately pursued them. The fact is General Sibley went from his headquarters under the International in St. Paul, to Mendota and went to bed.

To show how things are done in the Military line under Sibley, we note that when cavalry was ordered from Ft. Snelling to the scene of the murders, they had to go first to Faribault in the centre part of the State to get their horses that were being boarded there. Arriving there the horses were found to be in need of shoeing, to do which took up a day or two, after which the relief started for the frontier.

NEWS ITEMS.

The influx of paroled prisoners caused great excitement among the negro troops in Memphis. A plot to rise and murder every rebel in Memphis, in revenge for the Fort Pillow massacre, was discovered, and the white troops were put on guard. During the night the negroes attempted to come out of the fort, but were met by the white troops, and compelled to go back.

The last vestige of the confederate navy surrendered at Mobile on the 10th. The scene was in the highest degree impressive. The rebel officers were drawn up in line on the quarter deck and the crews drawn forward, and, as the symbol of the rebellion fluttered for a moment at the mast head before being hauled down forever, the chief officers bowed their heads, as thoughts rushed through their minds of the government they had so greatly outraged, remembering meanwhile their utter dependence upon the clemency of that government.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says the prospect of a large immigration this season is apparent. Nearly five thousand arrived in New York in two days, from Liverpool, Havre, Hamburg and Bremen, and the two steamers due from Liverpool would probably increase the number for this week to 6,000. As soon as the swarming population of the Old World learn that peace has come back to us, the emigration to our shores will be a precedent.

Three burglars broke into the dwelling of Isaac Caniser, a farmer in Erie township, Berks county, Pa., on the 15th inst. After a severe struggle George Mezas, a son in law of Caniser, stabbed one of the party, who was found dead near the house next morning. The man killed has been identified as Peter Sheffer, a desperate character, of Reading. Some women who were in the house were severely beaten with clubs.

There is a great chance for Northern emigrants to the Southern States. Land that could not be purchased for less than $50 per acre, is now selling for $2.00 and $2.50. There is a plan already in course of preparation where large estates in Virginia will be cut up into small parcels with a view to its cultivation by Northern farmers.

A large meeting of citizens was held at Salem, Ala., on the 10th, which was addressed by Judge Byrd, an influential citizen. In the course of his remarks he forcibly told the assembled people that the war had settled two questions—secession and slavery—and both against the South. He counseled conciliation and moderation.

The rebel State officials of Tennessee were at Augusta, Ga., made a proposition to return to Nashville on condition of being unarmisted. Orders were immediately sent for them, and they are now undoubtedly in custody. They had with them the assets of the Bank of Tennessee, said to include $700,000 in specie.

Gen. Forrest issued an address to his troops announcing the surrender of Dick Taylor, and earnestly advising them to lay aside all feeling of animosity and revenge, and cheerfully submit to the ultimatum of war, and go home and be good citizens and use their best exertions to restore peace and order. The Memphis Bulletin denies the report of Forrest's death.

The Herald's Augusta (Ga.) correspondent gives an account of the occupation of that city. Gen. McInerney, of New York, took formal possession on May 6th, and found about one hundred thousand bales of cotton, ten million dollars' worth of ordinance and other rebel stores, and $45,000 in bullion. A part of Jeff Davis' specie train was captured, and $185,000 in gold secured.

Ex-Gov. Aiken, of S. C., has been allowed to return to his home in Charleston, upon giving his parole to report weekly to the military authorities there.

Maj. Gen. John B. Smith has been ordered to succeed Maj. Gen. C. C. Washburn, in command of the District of West Tennessee. It is understood he will assume command on the 1st of June.

The whole number of convalescent soldiers in the hospitals in Washington to be discharged will be 5,000. Their papers are being made out as fast as possible.

STATE NEWS.

ROBBERY.—The safe of the Minnesota Mutual Insurance Co. was broken open Monday night last, and $500 in money, and a lot of the company's notes stolen.

The door of the safe was found open in the morning, and the drawers taken out and placed on top. The iron box containing the money was pried open, and carried off, together with a satchel belonging to one of the agents.

Three hundred dollars of the money had been deposited in the safe a few days before, by J. F. Wickensham. Diligent search was made by the Sheriff and other parties on Tuesday, and the satchel and the iron box found on the hill-side in the rear of Mrs. Sibley's house. The box was broken open and the money gone, but the notes were still in the box.

The were all recovered, and for the information of those who are insured in this company, we will state that the solvency will not be affected in the least by this small loss.

John A. J. Lyon has been arrested on suspicion by the Sheriff, but as his examination comes off to day at ten o'clock, we forbear further remarks.—Mankato Union.

FIRE.—The residence of Mr. Matthews of South Bent was burned last week. The family were unable to save any of the furniture, and but very little clothing. Mr. Matthews and his daughter were badly burned, the latter has since died.—Bd.

GRASSHOPPERS.—We learn that grasshoppers in our fields and orchards have already made their appearance in the vicinity of New Ulm also in Battlement Valley township, in this county—doing great damage in both localities. They had just reached that region last fall when cold weather set in, and they were killed by frosts. Their eggs laid last fall, are now hatching, and millions of young grasshoppers, without wings, are making their appearance from small holes in the ground. They are destroying all vegetation and fields of grain and grain, which were quite green a few weeks ago, now looks as if a terrible fire had swept over them.—Mankato Record.

ACCIDENT.—The proprietor of the Hukah Mill while engaged in the saw Mill on Saturday morning last, lost a portion of his leg by his coming in contact with the cog wheel of the mill. We trust the wound will not disable him long as his services are very much needed at this time.—Hukah Courier.

SHOOTING INCIDENT.—We learn from Dr. Grove, attending physician, that Henry Carlton, son of the hotel keeper at St. Mary, was seriously injured last week as follows:

In some way a horse got loose, he caught him by the halter, the horse ran with him, threw him against a stump, breaking some of his ribs on the left side and seriously injuring him internally.—Willam News.

A Soldier's Wife Almost Killed.—One of the most heart rending accidents which ever occurred in this city, took place between six and seven o'clock last evening.

As Mrs. Nichols Freyer was driving a horse attached to a single wagon down Summit Avenue, the animal became frightened by the break of a strap and ran. At the junction of Summit Avenue and St. Anthony street, the wheels running into the gutter, threw her out of the wagon, causing her to strike her head violently upon the curb stone. She was taken up insensible and carried to the residence of Mrs. Tullis, near by.

Drs. McManis, Willey and Stewart all chanced to pass a few minutes after the accident, and were called to see the dying woman. Her skull was found to be fractured, and one of her hairpins driven into her brain. Her face was also terribly cut. It was impossible to render any medical aid and she died without regaining consciousness in about an hour after the accident occurred.—St. Paul Press.

GEN. BERNARDIAN.
A Letter in Self-Vindication—He Accuses the War Department of Suppressing his Reports.

The following is the letter of Sherman complaining of the suppression of his official reports, already referred to:
CAMP NEAR ALEXANDRIA, May 19, '65
Dear Bowman: I am just arrived. All my army will be into day. I have been lost to all the world in the woods for some little time, and upon arriving at the settlements, find I have made quite a stir among the people at home, and the most sinister motives have been ascribed to me. I have made official reports of my official action in all public matters, and all of them have been carefully suppressed, while the most ridiculous nonsense has been industriously spread abroad through all the newspapers.

Well, you know what importance I attach to such matters, and that I have been to long fighting with the rebels with muskets in their hands to be at all scared by mere non-combatants, no matter how high their civil rank or station. It is amusing to observe how brave and firm some men become when all danger is past. I have noticed on the battlefields brave men never insult the captured, or mutilate the dead, but cowards and braggarts always do.

I cannot now recall the act, but Shakespeare records how poor Falstaff, the prince of cowards and wits, rising from the figure of death stabbed again the dead Percy and carried the carcass aloft in triumph, to prove his valor. So now when the rebellion is dead in our hands, many Falstaffs appear to brandish the evidence of their valor, and seek to win applause, and to appropriate honors for deeds that were never done.

As for myself, I ask the reward no popularity; but I dare the War Department to publish my official letters and reports.

I assert that my official reports have been purposely suppressed while all the power of the press has been malignantly turned against me. I do want peace and security and the return to law and justice from Maine to Rio Grande. If it does not exist now substantially, it is for state reasons beyond my comprehension.

It may be thought strange that one who has no fame but as a soldier should have been so careful to try to restore the civil power of the Government and the peaceful jurisdiction of the Federal courts, but it is difficult to discover in that fact any just cause of offense to an enlightened and free people, but when men choose to slander and injure others they can easily invent the facts for the purpose, while the proposed victim is far away engaged in the public service of their own bidding. But there is consolation in knowing that if the truth lies at the bottom of a well the Yankees have perseverance enough to get to the bottom.

Yours truly,
W T SHERMAN

Manhood: how Lost, how Restored!

A new edition of Dr. CULVERWELL'S Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of Syphilis, Gonorrhea, Venereal Ulcers, Involuntary Seminal Emissions, Impotency, Mental and Physical Enfeeblement, Impairments to Marriage, etc., etc., Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance (without medicine). Price, in a small envelope, only 6 cents.

This celebrated and in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of the abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure so simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Address the publishers, CHAS. J. C. KINE & CO., 127 BOWERY, New York. Post Office box 4,556.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN.

The sale of the first series of $300,000,000 of the 7-30 Loan was completed on the 31st of March, 1865. The sale of the second series of Three Hundred Millions, payable three years from the 6th day of June 1865, was begun on the 1st day of April. IN THE SHORT SPACE OF THIRTY DAYS, OVER ONE HUNDRED MILLION OF THIS SERIES HAVE BEEN SOLD—leaving this day less than two Hundred Millions to be disposed of. The interest is payable semi-annually in currency on the 15th of December and 15th of June by Coupons attached to each note, which are readily cashed anywhere. It amounts to

One cent per day on a $50 note.

More and More Desirable.

The rebellion is suppressed, and the Government has already adopted measures to reduce expenditures as rapidly as possible to a peace footing, thus withdrawing from markets a large amount of currency.

This is the only loan in which the Government has already adopted measures to reduce expenditures as rapidly as possible to a peace footing, thus withdrawing from markets a large amount of currency.

The Seven-Thirty Notes are convertible on their maturity, at the option of the holder, into U. S. 5-20 Six per cent. GOLD RECEIVING BONDS.

Free from Taxation.

The 7-30 Notes cannot be taxed by Towns, Cities, Counties or States and the interest is not taxed under a surplus of the estate in one exceeding six hundred dollars a year. This fact increases their value from one to three per cent. per annum, according to the rate levied on other property.

Subscribe Quickly.
Less than 200,000,000 of the Loan authorized by the last Congress are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within four months when the notes will automatically be issued, and thus uniformly kept in circulation, thus insuring their value to the owner. It is probable that no considerable amount beyond the present series will be offered to the public.

In order that citizens of every town and city of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and Private Banks throughout the country have generally agreed to receive and subscribe at par. Subscribers will select their own agents in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive them.

For prospectus of notes apply to the First National Bank of St. Paul, Second National Bank of St. Paul.

SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS
SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS
SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS
A delicate tonic, gentle stimulant and invigorant for the system. Prepared in the olden fashion, using only the purest and finest ingredients, and containing no alcohol, it is the only popular medicine which has been especially exempted from stamp tax by the United States government, on the ground of its having been adopted as a standard remedy by the medical profession.

Swain's Bourbon Bitters.
They are made of ingredients well known and approved by the medical profession, as being powerful tonic properties, as being palatable and pleasant, with excellent strengthening properties to correct the bilious derangement of the system, and act like a charm when taken according to direction, as a remedy for the following diseases—Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Affections, Loss of Appetite, Lowness of spirits, Sallow Complexion.

Swain's Bourbon Bitters for
Headache, Constipation, and kindred diseases, arising from deranged condition of the stomach, Liver or Biliary system. Let every one try these agreeable Bitters; once tried and used, you will recommend them with confidence to all who are in need of a wholesome, agreeable and effective tonic. The rapidly increasing demand for these Bitters has induced me to give them publicity, so that thousands who have not used them, may try them and be convinced of their efficacy.

Swain's Bourbon Bitters
Ladies who have tried and found most other "Stomach Bitters" too bitter, unpalatable and too highly medicated for their delicate taste, please give these a trial, and you will not be without them. They will give tone to the stomach, and strength to the whole system.

If your druggist or tradesman has not got these Bitters have him send for them.
Remember the name, and take no other.

Swain's Bourbon Bitters
The composition of Dr. Swain's Bitters, having been made public through the columns of Medical Journals, and having been adopted as a standard remedy by the Medical Profession, are by the decision of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, EXEMPT FROM STAMP DUTY.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

WINNEBAGO CITY, May 31st, 1895.

Advertisers will find the Winnipeg Free Press one of the very best mediums through which to reach the people, as it has a large circulation, both in and out of the State.

Subscribers finding a cross on their paper will understand their time of subscription has expired. Send in your names, we wish to make a further acquaintance, there being plenty of room.

The Good Templars are going to have a picnic in J. P. Carlton's grove on Saturday June 10th, a good time is predicted.

Summer, long delayed has got here at last and is hot enough to satisfy the most fastidious.
Grass, wheat, oats, corn and such things are growing rapidly.

The county commissioners of this county, did not at their recent meeting vote any funds to procure blood hounds to help run down skulking Indians. We think gentlemen this was very penny wise!

Spokane Hotel of the Winnipeggo Hotel is building an addition to the same. The risk of business was so great the extension was a necessity.

New Goods are constantly arriving at the various stores in this town and those who buy seem to be well satisfied with both quality and prices.

From Elder Hathaway of St. Paul we learn that General Silley has ordered a furrow ploughed from Ft. Ridgely to the State Line as an additional protection to the frontier. As the Elder is a Universalist preacher and believes that all men are brothers, we have no doubt his state mind is true.

Van Lom's great Trope will perform in "Moulin Rouge" Wednesday evening, the first with an entire new program, which we trust will be interesting to their audience. They have one of the best quartette bands Minnesota affords, which will play for those wishing to dance after the performance.

Since the first of April, we have counted sixty-eight wagons loaded with new goods, while passing by our office, it is not at all probable that we have seen all that come in. Most of these goods have stopped in this town.

We are under obligations to Senator Ramsey for the Report of the Commissioners of Agriculture for 1894. This Report seems to be a reprint of former publications of this Department. Can nothing new be reported in the field of Agriculture? If not, Commissioner Newton had better dry up.

"Another Soldier Gone."
We are called to mourn with our fellow citizen, R. N. Pinn, the death of his son Sidney Albert Pinn, late private in Co. G, 1st Regt. Minn. Vol., who died of measles, on the 8th of May, in the "Infirmary" U. S. General Hospital, Washington D. C., aged seventeen years, and three months. His funeral will be held at Monahan's Hall in Winnebago City, on Sabbath next, at 11 o'clock A. M., to which the public are respectfully invited to attend.
